Kwong Wo Yuen Signboard

By referring to historical documents and interviews, Master Fung Wai Keung made reference to the original sign's style and characteristics, and tried to mimic the font style and restore the lost parts of the sign. The restoration aims to accurately recreate the original sign's appearance, to use the consistent style of the old fonts. Stefan Tsui applied 3D software to convert the font into a three-dimensional form, preserving the distinctive style while adding depth and volume. This made the font more strong and sturdy to display a concrete texture of the font.

The use of concrete provides durability and texture, allowing the sign to be displayed outdoors. The carving and detailed treatment ensure the restored sign closely mimics the original, displaying the same style transporting viewers back in time.
